

Web Application Developer

Type: Contract (6+ months)
Status: Full Time
Location: Austin, TX
Start Date: Immediate
Compensation: Competitive DOE

Description

Quatro Consulting is seeking a Web Application Developer to design, develop, and implement web applications. As a Web Application Developer, you will provide solutions by collaborating with team members and interfacing with product managers. This position requires extensive experience applying HTML, DOM, AJAX and object oriented JavaScript to create robust client-side APIs and user interfaces. You will participate in the full lifecycle of software development from requirements through design, development, testing, documentation, and deployment. This position will allow you to move into other technology domains based on your performance and interest as new projects are sourced.

Responsibilities

- Design and architect software components based on functional specifications and requirements
- Develop components in the presentation tier of enterprise applications
- Provide technical leadership and expertise for product deliverables
- Apply and integrate technologies such as Java, JEE, JSP, Servlet, XML, AJAX, HTML, JavaScript, ActiveX to conceptualize, design, develop and unit test web-based applications

Requirements

- 5+ years object-oriented software design and development experience
- 5+ years of professional development with JavaScript, HTML, DOM
- 2+ years of professional development with Java, J2EE/JEE, JSP
- Effective time management and communication skills
- Experience with Struts, Stripes, or similar MVC framework
- Experience integrating client-side code with server-side technology on enterprise web applications
- Knowledge of current trends and best practices in presentation tier
- Experience with JavaScript libraries like Prototype and YUI
- Demonstrated ability to learn new technologies and frameworks is a must
- Experience with automated unit test frameworks and test coverage tools preferred
- Experience as a technical lead preferred
- Experience developing applications with Agile team methodologies preferred
- BA/BS/MS in Computer Science/Information Systems or comparable experience

How to Apply

Email resume and availability with Web Application Developer in the subject to hr@quatroconsulting.com

Candidates located in Austin, TX preferred.

No relocation allowance offered.